Working in Parallel

Gary Jeffery, Frost & Sullivan partner introduces the Excellence in Best Practices Awards Alcatel-Lucent are awarded the Fixed Broadcast Equipment Vendor of the Year Award

Back in September 2011 Stuart, Peter and Oliver plus Mike Page of Open Space Films (the latter working as a freelance for KLA) covered two events simultaneously for Frost & Sullivan at the Jumeirah Carlton Tower in Knightsbridge.

For each event two cameras were deployed, Peter and Stuart covering the 2011 Excellence in Best Practices Awards and Mike and Oliver covering the ICT Banquet and Awards Ceremony.

As the two events were taking place in adjoining suites Stuart was able to liaise with F&S staff re setting up for both events prior to their simultaneous start times.

Recently Completed Work

In addition to the events above KLA also organised a production crew to cover another Frost & Sullivan presentation in Frankfurt on 1 December 2011.

KLA doesn't usually provide camera personnel to other production companies unless we particularly enjoy working with them. As Accidental Productions falls within this category Stuart, plus KLA's JVC GY-HM700 camcorder, recently joined them at the KPMG offices in Canary Wharf to cover a seminar and a multi-camera interview.

And talking of Canary Wharf Stuart found himself back there a few days later, this time with KLA Associate Peter Kidman, to record a two camera 'webcast' interview for long time client Clifford Chance LLP.

Training

Our sister operation – Swanrose Video Training and Consultancy - has recently provided training for new client Absolute Radio (formerly Virgin Radio) and for current and retiring military personnel. We have also attended a shoot, in a consultancy capacity, for recent new client Qualogistics Ltd.

Meanwhile we continue to provide regular consultancy and training to long-time client NorthEastSouthWest.

Future Productions/Work

KLA is booked for further work with Clifford Chance LLP and continues to provide regular facilities services for a range of our clients including documentary maker Mama Safari and the Queen's Royal Irish Hussars. We also continue to undertake the usual range of facilities work for a range of clients old and new.

Meanwhile Frost & Sullivan have events coming up in Frankfurt (again), Milan and Russia, as well as further London events for 2012, and KLA will be endeavouring to arrange crews to cover the overseas events and itself to cover the London events.

New Purchases

KLA is about to extend its studio software to include the music program Sibelius.

Hot News

We are still hoping to work with our regular client FlamencoVision on a series of musically-illustrated interviews with renowned flamenco guitarist Juan Martin once he returns from his latest tour.

More Hot News

After fifteen years ensconced in Studio B here at KLA Towers Stuart is finally giving up the existing space (which is being renovated for private use) and moving to another area at the back of the premises. Builders are currently ripping out everything from this back area and Stuart hopes that the new studio, replete with new furniture, will be ready by the end of February 2012.
